Write a dialogue between the principal and a student who is applying for leave.

Read the passage and answer the questions.

Gifts should be chosen with care. There is no simple formula to guide you while buying gifts. It is easy to choose a gift if you know the recipient well and are aware of his tastes and needs. Flowers are frequently given as gifts. They convey a wide range of emotions and sentiments. Red roses symbolize love, while for sympathy and support, yellow suggests friendship, and violets beg the recipient not to forget the donor.

Money is a suitable gift in most circumstances. It is convenient for the donor. But the recipient may be offended that the donor has not made any effort to select a gift. Travel is a special gift because it offers new and thrilling experiences for the recipient. Memories linger in the mind long after the trip is over.

Sometimes a gift can reduce the pain and anger of a quarrel or a break-up.

- (a) When is it easy to choose a gift?
 - (b) What do flowers convey?
 - (c) Why is travel a special gift?
 - (d) Give the synonym of the word 'offend' from the passage.

Read the following paragraph and make notes on the topic and main ideas.

When we survey our lives and efforts we soon observe that almost the whole of our actions and desires are bound up with the existence of other human beings. We notice that whole nature resembles that of the social animals. We eat food that others have produced, wear clothes that others have made, live in houses that others have built. The greater part of our knowledge and culture has been passed on to us by other people through the medium of a language which others have created, with language and mental capacities, we would have been indeed comparable to higher animals we have, then we would have to admit that we owe our principal knowledge over and over to the fact of living in human society. The individual left alone from birth would remain primitive and ignorant like in his thoughts and feelings to a degree that we can hardly imagine. The individual is what he is and his significance that he has, not much in virtue of his individuality, but rather as a member of a great human community which directs his material and spiritual existence from the cradle to grave.

It is now being increasingly accepted all over the world that environmentally sound policies make for good economics. The importance of this is accentuated by the fact that biodiversity is unequally distributed and needs to be preserved wherever it is found. As in the economic world, the environmental resources are unequally enriched, consisting of Brazil, Colombia, Madagascar, Congo, Guatemala, Indonesia and Malaysia. The world's attention now is on protecting these pockets of Biodiversity by emphasizing its economic importance and by suitably involving and compensating the local communities. There has also been a continuous attempt to bring in environmental concerns into economic calculations.

4. Speech given without any previous thought or preparation
5. One who looks at the bright side of things

2. Write a note on skimming

3. Read the following paragraph and make notes on the topic and main ideas.

There are different forms of environmental pollution. Air pollution is caused by the burning of coal and oil. It can damage the earth's vegetation and cause respiratory problems in humans. A second type of pollution is noise pollution. It is the result of the noise of aircraft and heavy traffic. Further, loud music is also a cause of noise pollution, which has been seen to affect people's hearing and give them severe headaches and high blood pressure. Another source of pollution is radioactivity, which occurs when there is a leak from a nuclear power station. Radioactivity is a deadly pollutant, which kills and causes irreparable harm to those exposed to it. Land and water pollution is caused by the careless disposal of huge quantities of rubbish, sewage and chemical wastes. Pollution of rivers and seas kills fishes and other marine life and also becomes the cause of water-borne diseases. Land pollution, on the other hand, poisons the soil, making the food grown in it unfit for consumption.

The two dominant features of our age are science and democracy. They have come to stay. We cannot ask educated people to accept the deliverances of faith without rational evidence. Whatever we are called upon to accept must be justified and supported by reason. Otherwise our religious beliefs will be reduced to wishful thinking. Modern man must learn to live with a religion which commends itself to his intellectual and spiritual development of every human being irrespective of his caste, creed, community or race. Any religion which divides man from man or supports privileges, exploitation, wars, cannot commend itself to us today.

- a. In the passage it is said that democracy should.....
- b. The writer of the passage stresses the importance of.....

(1×5=5)

Conversation is indeed the most easily teachable of all arts. All you need to do in order to become a good conversationalist is to find a subject that interests you and your listeners. There are, for example, numberless hobbies to talk about. But the important thing is that you must talk about other fellow's hobby rather than your own. There in lies the secret of your popularity. Talk to your friends about the things that interest them, and you will get a reputation for good fellowship, charming wit, and a brilliant mind. There is nothing that pleases people so much as your interest in their interest.

Eliminate what drains you. To start with identify those that drain you. What drains you are the things you put up with, the things that bug you, and the things you have neglected. What drains you can be little things and big things. They can be dishes piling up in the sink, driving in rush hour traffic, a messy car, cluttered closets, or a missing button. They can also be poor behaviour in a relationship a boss who micromanages you, an over flowing inbox, a friend who is always late, or a job you dislike. These things are what I call the physical, mental and emotional clutter in your life. They hold you back and are a huge drain on your energy level.
